MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Telephone Conversation with Col. Floyd Sweet/NASA

1. On 21 March, I talked again with Col. Floyd Sweet/NASA to make final preparations for the first meeting of the NASA/CIA Panel on Advanced Research and Technology to be held on 24 March.
2. Col. Sweet made it clear that the proposed meetings between individual NASA and CIA participants prior to the panel session were in order. He only wished to make certain that such meetings were relatively short and were not planned to be continuing after the panel session.
3. The next point we discussed was the proposed briefings by NASA personnel on NASA state-of-the-art in certain fields of research and technology. The original plan agreed upon with Dr. Adams was that such informal briefings should take place. Col. Sweet said there was no problem here, but he wanted to make sure that formal briefings with briefing aids were not expected because of the advance preparation time on NASA personnel. Aside from the panel, he agreed to have a formal state-of-the-art briefings by briefing teams at a later date if requested by Dr. Wheelon to Dr. Seamans.
4. Col. Sweet said that Dr. Adams had recommended that a representative in bio-technology would be appropriate. Col. Sweet was told that such a representative would be welcomed but that CIA did not plan briefings on this subject at the first panel session.
5. Col. Sweet stated that he thought future contact, direct with Dr. Adams, should not take place. He felt this represented too much of a demand on his time and should be handled at a lower level. He did express Dr. Adams' interest in the panel and stated that Dr. Adams would like to attend as many meetings as possible. However, Dr. Adams will be out of town at the time of the first panel session.

SUBJECT: Telephone Conversation with Col. Floyd Sweet/NASA

6. Col. Sweet's main concern was that CIA may be requesting more time from NASA personnel than was stated in the original agreement.

7. My contacts with Dr. Adams were made directly, but Col. Sweet was kept informed by telephone of all activities.

Remarks:

Upon reviewing the attached breakdown on subcommittees of the CIA/NASA Advisory Panels it became evident that there was some flap potential in [redacted] being designated CIA Chairman for Lunar and Planetary Probes Subcommittee. I have brought this to the attention of [redacted] who has agreed to take the necessary steps to assign a FMSAC staffer to this position for administrative purposes.
